

List of Current Haiku Journals

August 18, 2020

Dear members,

Getting haiku published is often not an easy task, especially for those who are just starting off. Writing good haiku is challenging, but submitting and getting accepted into journals can also be difficult. There are a large number of different haiku journals, each with different editors and catering to different styles. Some of these journals have been in existence for a long time, like Modern Haiku and are well known, but others such as Kingfisher, are new on the scene. In attempt to make it easier for you to identify and publish we show here a reasonably up to date list of contemporary haiku journals. The titles of these journals and the web links to them are provided below. Click on the link and it should take you to the relevant site.

Please note that the above list is not intended to be complete or exhaustive. It does not include journals that are specific to haibun, haiga, tanka, or renku. They are primarily for submission of stand alone haiku or senryu. We will attempt to keep the list updated and republished periodically. Let us know of any corrections, additions or deletions by sending an email to jay.friedenberg@gmail.com and good luck!
